The New Dodge

When Democrats cry "war war" look out there is something up and that something can only be policy for their principles have long been avowed against it —Stockton Independent

Since the order has gone forth from Democratic headquarters, that it will not do for the party any longer to openly oppose the war, we have seen some strange 'ground and lofty tumbling' As yet the performance is very awkward, because the actors are new in their parts, and peace men cannot all at once spell war, without stammering Time must be allowed to enable them to become expert, but even when they are so, there will be fun enough for all. Vallandigham to be a good Democrat, under the revised regulations of his party, will come back from Canada shouting lustily for the blood of his misguided Southern brethren Jo Lane will be ready once more—though deaf to the call of his country, and ignoring the claims of patriotism for two years past, he will rejoice like a war horse, smelling the battle afar, when he hears the summons of party, and in the name of Democracy will go forth to fight valiantly against the rebel hosts foe The army will be filled with crowded ranks of peace men, all eager and anxious to show their fidelity to their time honored party, by making a great show of pugnacity Last year's resolutions at sundry conventions will be taken in, and in their place, we shall soon hear virulent philippics against the wicked men who attacked Fort Sumter, and did many other dangerous and unlawful things! Yes, it will be something grand to see this magnificent army of Democratic patriots, waked up at last, and breathing out threatenings and slaughter against all who do not follow in their wake and keep step to the music of their party Of course, they will have their own leaders and fight in their own characteristic way—knocking down and dragging out if they can, the men at the head of national affairs, and thereby aiding the rebels to the utmost of their power. But what of that? Are they not war men, manufactured to order for political purposes? And shall they not be trusted, when they profess to be true, though they have been worse and meaner traitors than the imps of secession who fill Charleston and Richmond? It is not unlikely that their impudent pretensions will deceive many, and it is very likely that some of them will be so exceedingly mad with zeal, that they will denounce the Government for excess of caution We have heard of just that sort of mischievous management, and we expect devices, full of fraud and danger, like the resolutions passed in caucus at Washington Thus, while pretending to favor the war, and to urge the Government to adopt more decisive measures, they are preparing to betray it with a kiss, and to deliver it bound into the hands of its enemies But their sympathy with treason until now, and their labors in its behalf, ought to put every honest patriot on his guard, and to make success in their new disguise impossible.

COURTS IN WASHINGTON TERRITORY —The Legislature have arranged the Districts as follows

1st District—Walla Walla, Spokane, Stevens and Ferguson counties
2d District—Yakima Skamania, Clarke, Wahkiakum, Cowlitz, Pacific Chehalis Lewis Thurston and Mason counties.
3d District—King Kitsap Jefferson, Clallam, Whatcom, Island, Snohomish and Pierce counties

Judge Oliphant is assigned to the first, Judge Wyche to the second, and Judge Howlett to the third district

THE MAGRUDER MURDERERS —A letter received yesterday from Mr Beachy, dated at Lewiston on the 20th inst states that the trial jury was empanelled on the day before, after calling 113 men One of the party, Page, was to be examined as a witness on the 20th, whose examination would probably occupy two days other proof would take another day, so that the trial was likely to continue till the close of last week

LEGISLATIVE JOKING —The lawmakers at Olympia are crowded with important business as the following sensation bills indicate Mr Babcock, of Walla Walla, introduced one

For the relief of E C Hardy, his heirs and assigns, which reads thus —

"Section 1 Be it enacted by the Legislative Assembly of the Territory of Washington That Judge E C Hardy of Skamania county, be and he is hereby authorized to enter upon, possess hold and occupy any and all ferries, bridges, plank roads, turnpikes, Macadam roads and railroads (when the locomotive makes less than two trips per day) bridges quartz mining claims coal veins ditch companies whose the original corporators have failed to comply with the terms of the franchise either from inclination or poverty

Sec 2 Whenever the said Hardy shall find a place on a river of sufficient extent to put a rope across without crowding out more than two chartered ferries, he the said Hardy is hereby empowered to erect pull and ferry and no board of county commissioners shall have a right to regulate the rate of tolls to be charged by said Hardy

Sec 3 The said Hardy's rights and privileges shall be perpetual From and That he shall with the exception of the property under his living dominion nothing to sell with his memorandum banking in the Territory for the same

Sec 6 If in the judgment of this corporation the Oregon Steam Navigation Co should need a general superintendence he shall be duly authorized to attend to them—being a U S State and Oregon Legislator—and in full compensation for said services he shall be entitled to issue to himself 25 shares of original Oregon Steam Navigation Co stock and appropriate the road tax of all transient persons who leave the county of Skamania free to the collection of their tax.

Sec 7 This act shall take effect from and after its passage

Mr. Shelton of Chehalis, is responsible for this one

An act to amend an act entitled an Act authorizing the construction of a Telegraph Line between the Southern and Northern boundaries of Washington Territory, passed January 22 1863

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Legislative Assembly of the Territory of Washington, That the Hon. its Associate Judges of all the counties in the said Territory who have been or may hereafter be elected and their successors in office and any and all persons who may acquire the honorary title of Judge be and they are hereby constituted the associates and assigns of the Hon Judge Joseph Cushman for the purpose of constructing said Electro-Telegraph line

Sec 2 That for the purpose of this act Edward S Tyler Esq shall be called Judge Dyer and shall have a free ticket on said Telegraph line

Judge E C Hardy, of Skamania county his heirs and assigns shall also be President, for the time being of said corporation and the Hon Judge Kelly of Walla Walla county shall be Vice President with perpetual succession.

Sec. 3 The act or which this is amendatory be and the same is hereby repealed.

THEY DON'T BELONG THERE.—The Washington correspondent of the Sacramento Union says that "Senator Conness has thus far joined the Caucus of the Union Administration Senators, but Harding and Nesmith have not"

He writes as follows in regard to postal matters, from which we regret to find that Oregon and Northern California will not obtain the relief which Mr Sargent sought for The excuse given is all moonshine, as the mail could be made up at the East, so as to cause no delay at the divergent point. It is just the way in which everything concerning our postal affairs seems to be managed Oh, Nesmith, and the rest of you big men at Washington, please to be alive about this mail business; and oblige everybody.

During the last session of Congress, A Sargent applied to the Post Office Department here to have a division of the Overland Mail service made at some point east of the Nevada so that the mail matter intended for Marysville Nevada City, Northern California and Oregon could branch off by the Henness road; that for Sacramento and the middle portion of the State should take the Placerville road and that for the Southern part of California should take another route. It was promised that this for such a service should be inserted in the mail bill of March 1864, but the Postmaster General now finds that Sac Francisco claims that, as she has the largest interest in the Overland mails she ought not to wait for the matter to be overlooked at Carson or Virginia City and detaining the mail one day to accommodate other portions of the State The objection is plausible, but does not meet the case the division of the service however, is postponed for the present but at the instance of Senator Conness bids will be offered at the next schedule for carrying the mails over the Henness route between Nevada and California. This will be an opening wedge and the next will follow in due time.

DIVISION OF IDAHO —Our dispatches this morning speak of a movement in Congress for the erection of a new Territory out of portions of Idaho and Utah, to be called Montana This is the name that was to have been given to Idaho A memorial has passed the legislature at Lewiston asking for a division, setting forth that the Territory is naturally divided north and south by the great chain of the Rocky Mountains, the Coeur d'Alene and Bitter Root Mountains, which present an almost insurmountable barrier to communication between the inhabitants of the eastern and western portions for at least six months in the year and will prevent the inhabitants of that portion in which the capital may not be located from being properly represented in the legislature The citizens of the Territory on the east side of the Rocky Mountains are said to be almost unanimously in favor of the division and it will probably be made during the present session of Congress

THE TRUE DOCTRINE.—The loyal Democrats of Massachusetts are speaking out in decided terms against the policy of the opposition leaders, and in favor of the Government and the war In Worcester, Hon Isaac Davis, up to the present time in full accord with the Democratic party, spoke at a war meeting as follows

All steps have been made by the clergymen of this city who has just taken his seat to the subject of Slavery I don't propose to say any thing about that matter It is an institution I abhor and loathe It is an institution that is between the upper and nether millstone, and will be ground to powder [Great applause] If this foul blot is erased we will never shout glory hallelujah! I have no sympathy for that patriot who will do nothing because Lincoln or his Cabinet do not do just right

THE BOISE COUNTRY.—From a private letter dated at Pioneer City on New Year's, we learn that there had been but little cold weather in that neighborhood up to the end of December About two feet of snow had fallen, but it was disappearing rapidly and had then nearly all gone Wood was eight dollars per cord. The writer had got his six dollars per day every day he worked through the season, and was very much encouraged by the future prospect He thinks that any industrious and steady man need not leave that region without a competency, if he has health and a disposition to save money

ACCIDENT.—A few days since Gabriel Jones an old and respected citizen of this county, while going through the woods near his house was taken for a deer, by his son who was out hunting, and shot The ball passed directly across the forehead, fracturing the skull slightly Surgical aid was soon procured and at last accounts he was doing well.—Overland Press

$500 REWARD.—Sheriff Pinkham of Boise county offers the above reward for one Hugh Donohue, for murdering a man by the name of G F Miller at Placerville Boise county, on the 25th ult Donohue is about 23 years of age dark complexion, gray eyes, 5 feet 8 inches high, slim built, and quick spoken.—Golden Age

Slavery in Tennessee

An army correspondent gives this account, which illustrates the state of things in a border State

I wish to speak a little of a negro regiment (Third United States Colored Infantry) which has recently been formed under the auspices of Colonel James Trimble a native Tennessean But before I talk particularly about the everlasting nigger it becomes necessary to speak a little of the colonel of this regiment, for his history and present position are a little singular Colonel James Trimble was in the cavalry service of the United States—I mean by the phrase that is to say when he was born his father owned more than twenty negroes and was as of course entitled to vote He was I am informed (for I was not here) a member of the State Legislature when the rebellion broke out and was one of the most violent secessionists in the State Nashville, Tenn but removed up to his plantation in Mississippi on the breaking out of the war, where he held him say his whipped negro women and men with a cowhide when he was not more than seven years of age because they gave him a saucy answer, or he thought he was doing good and saving White Trimble was cradle he was taught or rather learned to hate the very atmosphere the rich blue sky and whose mere purity and whiteness were well typified by the negroes below, a mule or a hog and he was right as a positive fact that hogs and mules were finer animals to look at than niggers He says for himself that he was never better than a nigger But he says, that he smothered his feelings and his father was made colonel of his regiment and remained loyal Here Webster and Clay's speeches in favor of freedom and the Union and Washington's Farewell Address were put into his hands and he became a confirmed Union man, and expects to die a Union man All of his relations with the exception of his uncle Gov Neil S Brown occupy as high rank as he occupied when the same position His whole family were slaveholders—one of them very rich and influential—but because they were opposed to secession they were bitterly persecuted by the rebels—were mobbed and browbeaten and spit upon Young Trimble states that at the start he was induced by his influential friends John Bell, Ed H Ewing Hadley Bryan Gov Neill S Brown and others to believe that the Union could only be preserved (when the storm came) by forming for the time being a middle Confederacy consisting of the border states. With this idea that they should form a solid phalanx and say to the North you shall not come down to fight your Southern brethren, and to the South you shall not go up to fight your Northern brethren. He states that he joined what were called the Union forces (before she went out of the Union) to effect this desirable object but soon saw the border States were mostly leaning toward the Southern Confederacy and that the Union was in its infancy betrayed and that the Government must, and has by pen and tongue been fighting treason ever since, and now expects to do it with pistol and sword, and bayonet. To show his gratitude for the Union he has organized a black regiment to fight the "Peculiar Race" He has been living in this town and in Nashville, since 1862. Says he has squared the nice little hands of the female 'pinks of chivalry' often at their $500 parties. It is amusing to see the deportment of the girls toward him now. They will walk an hundred yards around to avoid meeting him Their idea, they say is to avoid the irrepressible smell They say in all conscience, it is grevious enough to be compelled to endure the smell of a Northern Blue bellied Yankee but when it comes to the Southern black bellied Yankee," words are inadequate The young ladies of this section of country get off a great many of the like witticisms They make the Yankees smile It is contemplated by the way for the benefit of these excellent females and their sympathizers to import an 'intelligent contraband and invest him with the power of a Provost Marshal, that he may grant the ladies permits to buy coffee, and the men permits to buy meal, whiskey to keep up "mean spirits —for their salt and stimulants in one shape or another, and rather than do without would willingly ask a pass where they have been in the habit of granting one. The negro is wide awake to the idea of getting his liberty, and it is precious little labor 'white folks' can get out of him unless they pay him market price for it The negro has his jokes too, against his former 'massa and missus.' He says 'de white folks saw de nigger stink, may be he does, but if de white folks had as gut but one suit de clothes year and had to work but all de time de nigger dey would smell bad too An old darkey said the other day if 'de white folks got any intentions to do colored man because he belly black, de colored man got injections to do white man cause his belly white The negroes also frequently serenade the aristocracy with John Brown's Body and the Binkum Gunboats etc etc Again the negro begins to put on considerable style, since white folks have to ask for passes and he does not He escorts his "gal" around town on horseback or in buggy gallants her to church or public speaking or show, and has a reserved seat he sets up his eating and drinking saloons etc In short, the nigger is a lofty imitative animal, and is doing for a whole state just what he has been accustomed to doing for his rich masters of the South Thus the negro makes an excellent soldier, learns the drill, it is said by competent judges faster than a white man; they seem to take great pride in preparing themselves to kill rebels Then again, they have an idea that the rebels will show them no quarter if they fall into their hands hence they say in an engagement they never intend to be taken alive In this Messrs Editors, I would say the dear institution is dead in Tennessee and all over the South I witness its death struggles every day There is great weeping and gnashing of teeth over it The inhabitants—the favored few—lament mightily over the idea of washing on themselves or paying a negro to do so, but they have raised the fiat themselves and have no one to blame but themselves Slavery is doomed, thank God for it. Now we will be one people and in every sense a free people No more wars after this one is over.

ANECDOTE OF PARSON BROWNLOW —Rev Audley Browne, chaplain of the 100th (Roundhead) regiment, in a letter to the United Presbyterian relates the following incident which occurred during the trip of Parson Brownlow and Horace Maynard to Knoxville

At Pitman's, four miles north of Loudon Ky, where they halted all night was a Captain of a Kentucky cavalry regiment, and a squad of his men The Captain (who is no more I forbear to give) asked Brownlow, what policy he designed to advocate in his paper

I intend said he 'to support all the acts of Abrahim Lincoln for suppressing the rebellion, and then I intend to give it to him as hard as I can for not having done more'

And do you design to support his doctrine of nigger equality?' demanded the Captain

When your father used to put you on the field' retorted Brownlow to work with a black man, did he make you his equal?

Whereupon the Kentucky captain of cavalry proceeded to treat the parson and the company generally to a specimen of politics too much in vogue Pain sort to say even among professed loyalists in that State We have all heard it many times in other States as well In the course of his talk, he called the President an d—d fool and a d—d despot He was all used to finish when when Brownlow commenced a reply thus

Now, Captain if I was a profane man I would say you were a l—l of a fool But as I am not I will simply tell you a consummate ass

After this pungent exordium the Parson raked the captain's arguments in his peculiar style, and left him sadly the worse for the encounter to appearances much to the amusement of his men and the bystanders generally

AN EDITOR DRAFTED.—Mr H A Reid editor of the Beaver Dam Citizen, Wisconsin, was recently drafted and thus defines his position

"The Government wants men—WANTS every name drawn to put a man in the field and that immediately, as is evidenced by its repeated calls, and it is the Christian and patriotic duty of every able bodied man who can go to go, or send a substitute bodily instead of paying the exemption fee

"If I am accepted by the examining Board, I expect to go and shall leave the conduct of the Citizen in other hands earnest and true so that it will send forth its columns week by week, breathing the very elements of loyalty and patriotism, liberty, humanity and God's eternal Right"

Good!

RESIGNED.—Adjutant W P Kipus and Lieut Halloran of the 1st Washington Territory Infantry, have tendered their resignations

"ONLY ONE HUNDRED KILLED!"—Rev. A M Stewart, Chaplain of the 102d (Old Thirteenth) Pennsylvania Regiment, writing from Brandy Station Va, after the battle of Rappahannock Station, states that the enemy were attacked in their stronghold, and must have been somewhat surprised and confused, else they would have killed and wounded thousands of our troops He then continues in the following strain

Only about one hundred were killed and three hundred wounded Yet how strange this language "Only One Hundred killed" Cruel war does greatly transform both our language and our sensibilities Only one hundred noble young men in the flower of manhood swept together into eternity Only a hundred homes and home circles thus quickly thrown into inconsolable sadness and irreparable grief Were one hundred young men belonging to your fire companies crushed to death in a moment, under the ruins of some burning building what a thrill of horror would pervade the whole city—yes, the entire community? Each daily paper throughout the country for a number of issues thereafter, would be filled with sickening details of the awful, the appalling calamity When however only one hundred killed on the battle of the Rappahannock, is read by millions next morning, no other emotion is excited thereby save perhaps that of joy—a kind of pleasing breathing of relief

Early next morning (Sabbath) I passed entirely over the scenes of last evening's bloody struggle All quiet yet now The wounded had been sent away during the night and the sixteen hundred prisoners on their way far to the rear The dead were being put together into groups in order to be covered up in trenches when digging by their living comrades All were buried just as they fell—uncovered and shrouded in their bloody garments—perhaps the fittest burial for the brave soldier At one place within the enemy's works were collected and laid side by side fifteen or twenty from the 6th Maine regiment All noble looking young men still with their bloody dead They came from that far off North east to stop their rebellious career on the quiet banks of this lonely river Nearly every one of these had received the fatal wound in the face, the neck or upper portion of the breast as they marched directly up to the muzzles of the rebel rifles

PERPETUAL MOTION.—A Mr Caruthers, a mechanic in Kingston, Canada, professes to have discovered the principle of perpetual motion. A correspondent of the British American states that it is based by one of the simplest things in the world in the shape of machinery The model he says is constructed of eight levers, and each of these levers has a weight attached to it Seven of these weights are descending while one is ascending it stands to reason of two have a weight of one hundred pounds, with a lever of ten feet, and if you place the fulcrum two feet from the end of the lever you have four feet of the leverage, and a weight of fifty pounds will balance the lever Mr Caruthers invention is on this principle We have seven of these weights lifting one of the same size The correspondent promises that the wonder will shortly be presented to the world

The Potomac Army is styled "a flying column" and is thought to have done more marching and countermarching than any other army on the planet

A BATTLE FIELD SPEECH.—A correspondent writing from Chattanooga paints a picture which is full of patriotic life and fervor

It was near sundown when Gen T J Wood, whose conduct all through the three day's battle, marked him as one of the ablest leaders of the national armies, rode along the lines of his superb division. Loud shouts of enthusiasm greeted his appearance everywhere until at last his feelings no longer controlled, he broke forth in a speech

"Brave men" said he "you were ordered to go forward and take the rebel rifle pits at the foot of these hills, you did so, and then by the Eternal without orders, you pushed forward and took all the enemy's works on top It is a fine chance to have you all court martialled and I myself will appear as the principal witness against you, unless you promise me one thing

"What is it? what is it?" laughingly inquired his men

"It is," continued the General, "that as you are now in possession of these works, you will continue against all opposition of Bragg, Johnston Jeff Davis, and the devil, stead fastly to hold them"

At the conclusion of this speech, the enthusiasm of the soldiers knew no bounds, they left the ranks and crowded around the General, "We promise" we promise" they cried, and amid such exclamations as, "of course we'll hold them!" "Let any one try to take them from us" "Bully for you!" Three cheers for old Wood" the gallant officer rode off the field

On the summit of the ridge the captured artillery was huddled together in groups, and here, in spite of all my stoicism, I saw an other spectacle, of a different nature which affected me to tears Numbers of soldiers were standing around the pieces, peering in to their huge throats with intense curiosity, passing their hands over every portion even of the carriage wheels patting the guns as a child pats the head of a dog, and smiling in each others faces! As I gazed upon these men it seemed to me as if I were carried back to another age, and saw before me the sacrifices the strength, the spirit the glories of the American Revolution God bless the soldiers whose deepest and most solemn joy springs from the overthrow of their country's enemies!

EXCURSION TO OREGON CITY.—The citizens of Oregon City are to give a festival, feast or fete, to-morrow evening, in aid of the Fair Commission, upon which occasion dancing has commenced lively in Portland. The Mechanics' Band, always ready to lend its good services, after receiving an offer to furnish the music for the party, volunteered. Capt. Thayer, of the steamer Fair Play, offered to give the Band, and every one else, a free ride to go, volunteered—himself and boat. To-morrow, at three o'clock P. M., there is to be excursion to Oregon City. We need not recommend it—the subject, style of everything recommends itself, and we know all will avail themselves of Captain Thayer's generous offer, to pay our neighbors a visit, assist them in the work of mercy and zealously prosecute.

HUNTER BROS. may be said to have the best arranged establishment in Oregon, for the purposes of an Assay office and jewelry store. The windows form the first attraction, on the street. Stepping inside, however, we find all the modern improvements for showing them to, to close the iron shutters, counters, shelving, and paling, is all in style. Drawing open the rear of the store, and passing through, a door leads to the Assaying department. Here they have put in all the improvements for making assays, in the way of furnaces, etc., greatly facilitating the increasing business which will grow in that respect, as the minerals dre tested, and sent forward to be tested. What room, perhaps, the financial circumstances of many a man will rise or fall, with the results of a few hours labor by the assayer, during the coming years of development.

ARRIVED.—Mr. R. R. Haines, of San Francisco, the superintendent of the telegraph line, arrived in the city yesterday, and is stopping at the Pioneer. We learn from Mr. Haines that the work on the line has so far progressed that should favorable weather continue ten days would enable them to nearly complete it, but unfortunately they have not sufficient material on the ground at present to do so. Mr. Haines being a member of the "art creative" can readily see what an advantage it will be, both to the people and the Company, by a speedy completion of the line.

THE HUNT.—The Hunt yesterday brought up the body of some dead "boss-man" of Chinese, being sent to California for shipment to China. The body was contained in a square-looking box, bound with ropes and matting according to their custom. It is a penalty of the "Celestials" to send the remains of their dead back to China for final interment, believing that unless they do so their soul is not saved, and periodically a ship calls for them, properly put up, leave San Francisco for the "flowery land."

THE SENATOR.—This staunch and reliable craft begins to create quite a stir in the commercial affairs of our city. Last night a crowd thronged her dock when she landed, and a person could scarcely get through for boxes, etc. She took up yesterday 100 tons freight and 28 passengers. Returned brought down 116 tons freight, and 30 passengers. She lands her passengers at Coughlan's wharf, freight at Couch's.

THE CASCADES STEAMER arrived at three o'clock yesterday, and as there was no detention to the other steamers further up, made a very handsome return. We have forty passengers to report, and learn from Mr. Holland, Wells, Fargo & Co.'s messenger, that one hundred and fifty pounds of gold came with the express.

THE FERRY.—In order to better accommodate persons crossing the river, the Adelaide, formerly used at the foot of Salmon street, has been brought into use at the Stark street ferry, running in connection with the Pony, and trips are now made both ways every quarter of an hour.

REVIVAL IN BUSINESS.—If any one doubts the fact that business is picking up in Portland, let them take a walk along the wharves from Taylor street to the steamship landing, during the afternoon, or watch the drays and trucks on Front street, any evening. We believe they will think somebody is on the go.

ALL RIGHT.—The Fair Play arrived yesterday afternoon with a part of a cargo of oats and apples, taken on board opposite St. Helen's. That lumber, for which she went to Gray's Point, is to be used in completing the inner work of her cabins, etc.

SHORT OUT.—An old Bum got his lodging gratis, on Wednesday night, by sponging on the side walk on Washington street. He had no fire in his room, but he evidently didn't mind that, so long as a little toddy answered the purpose of keeping him warm.

IN A FIX.—A countryman, going out of the city last evening, somehow slightly confused himself and his team, when near the Court House, at which confusion the latter displayed great agility with their hind heels, resulting in a broken wagon and a perplexed farmer.

PARDONED.—Van Tichnel, sentenced at the Dalles, for shooting McDaniels last summer, in Canyon City, has been pardoned by the Governor, and was yesterday released from durance vile.

FULL LOAD.—The Vancouver left yesterday afternoon "loaded to her guards." We are pleased to see full cargoes on our steamers, for when they thrive everybody thrives in proportion.

THE COWLITZ arrived at two o'clock yesterday, bringing a light freight, some few passengers and the U. S. Mail.

DRUGGED LIQUORS.—Thirsty individuals, with a pain in the region of the diaphragm, have been accustomed to march up to saloon bars with their hands upon their "vestkit" pockets, and mournfully supplicate "a thimble-full of brandy and spearmint" to ease their pains. Henceforward there is no need to bother about the spearmint. Occasional drinkers may with "undiminished head" and perfect propriety, walk in and demand a tumbler-full of "diluted polygelic." For it has recently been developed by investigations in New York and elsewhere, that it is a common custom to drug all sorts of liquor with opium. Port wine and opium, Madeira and opium, brandy and opium, gin and opium, St. Croix and opium! The question should be, "Will you opiate?" and the affirmative answer, "I don't care if I do poppy." The baneful effects of the drug are not to be considered. They are of no consequence. It is given to children to relieves aches and pains innumerable under their little pinafores: to relieve mamma of the necessity of staying at home from balls and parties; and to give nurse a chance to fondle her sweet William when the family are absent.

What is sauce for the gander should be sauce for the goose. Men are all children of larger growth and have their little whims, freaks and oddities. They require stimulus and quietus, recreation and recuperation, excitement and quiescent. The drugged liquors will furnish demand and supply. They will stimulate the stomach, and then ruin it; intoxicate the brain, then unhinge it; string up the nerves, then shatter and break them; fire the blood, then poison and deaden it; quicken the limbs, then palsy and paralyze them; excite the intellect to unwonted action, then hang a cloud over and quench it. Such combinations of excellent qualities are rarely found in a single compound. Next to the madder, logwood and cochineal, wine, the cochineal and citric brandy, and the famous strychnine whisky, we expect laudanum drinks of all sorts to become the popular beverages of the day.

To The Public.

I WOULD HEREBY CALL THE ATTENTION of the public to the fact, that on the first of May, 1864, they will be called upon by the United States Assessors, to make a statement of Income for the year 1863, and as the year 1863 is just ended, it would be well for every one to make up their accounts for said year, while every thing is fresh in their memory, and be ready to make statement when called upon by the Assessor.

Under the ruling of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, persons can only deduct expenses for repairs, etc., from the amount received from the same property on which such expenditure have been made. For instance—a person receives $500 per year, he can use of that amount all that is necessary to repair such property from which rents were derived, also same rule applies to steam-boats, sawmills, and other like property; but all monies derived from interest on notes, Bonds, Mortgages, and from dividends, must be returned as income, although a portion or the whole may have been expended in improving buildings, steamboats, etc.

If persons will prepare their accounts and statements showing amounts received and the source from whence derived, amount expended, and for what purpose, them with the forms and blanks which will be furnished them by the Assessor, a correct return can be made.

Not Now.

Talk not of compromise or peace
To traitors with their dripping swords,
Their glorious war shall never cease,
Th' wasted time in useless words.
What ! speak of peace when senseless crime
Lifts up unawed, its brazen brow ?
Not now ; no ! this is not the time,
To cry for peace—not now

Talk not of peace while dauntless hands
Are struggling in the battle plain,
Where vet'ran's fiery chariot wheels
Its gory wheel—among the slain;
The battle must be fought and won,
Rebellion crushed, no matter how!
The war for freedom must go on,
It cannot stop, not now, not now !

When those who woke the sound of strife,
Shall come the boon of peace to crave—
When those who sought the nation's life,
Shall humbly sue for their own to save—
Then freedom by their sword shall bow,
And in submission humbly bow;
Then war may cease to fiercely frown,
But now it must not cease—not now

Let Northern dastards cry for peace,
While others fight, their homes to save;
Let cries whisper war must cease,
While patriots find a bloody grave.
Let traitors but firmer clutch the sword,
While loyal hearts wreath each victor's brow,
And freemen shout with one accord—
We must not fail or falter!

We seek no peace till every star,
Bright in our constellation shines,
We stop not in the path of war,
Until we reach that bright sublime.
Our flag must float o'er every State,
From Maine to Pacific's shore;
For treason's voice again awake,
Yoldin its glory nevermore!

Popping the Question.

There is no more delicate step in life than the operation designated by the elegant phrase I have selected for the title of my present lucubration. Much winding and caution, and previous sounding, is necessary when you have got a favor to ask of a great man. It is ten chances to one that he takes it into his head to consider your request exorbitant, and to make this the pretext for shaking off what he naturally considers a cumbersome appendage to his state—a man who has a claim upon his good offices. But this hazard is nothing in comparison with the risk you run in laying yourself at the mercy of a young gipsy, fonder and frolic than anything in life. Even though she love you with the whole of her little heart, she possesses a flow of spirits, and an already knack of preserving appearances, and though her bosom may heave responsive to your stammering tale, she will leave you on with kind, complacent looks, until you have told "your pitiful story," and then laugh in your face for your pains!

It is not this either that I mean to express. Men are not cowards because they see distinctly the danger that lies before them. When a person has coolness sufficient to approach, to a certain extent, he has in, general full possession enough to back out of the affair if it is inevitable, to march with resolution to meet his fate. In like manner it is not that poor Pillgarlick, the man has a clear notion (persons in his condition are troubled with clear notions) of what ails him, but he feels a kind of choking in the neck of his heart, a hang dog inclination to go backwards instead of forwards, a sudden stop in all his functions. He does not know how to look or what to say. His dinner, arranged with so much happy enthusiasm, when sitting alone in his arm-chair, over a good dinner, and two or three glasses of wine, by the uncertain glimmering of twilight, with his feet upon the fender, proves quite impracticable. Either it has escaped his memory altogether, or the conversation which he has taken a turn totally different from that which he intended to lead the fair one to, or he has succeeded to thoughts of tenderer import, by fine degrees, [illegible] at the time how she was affected, [illegible] to be sure of his depth before he [illegible] plunge), to insinuate his confession, [illegible] moment that he knows it will be well received.

[illegible] struggles and floundorings by which he get out of their embarrassing enough. We were delighted the first [illegible] the history of the wooing, [illegible] now no more, related. His [illegible] man of talents and enterprise, [illegible] pedigree, and a fair rent roll, but [illegible] slave of bashfulness. Like all [illegible] men, he was very susceptible [illegible] as long as he was in the [illegible] the object of his affections [illegible] ced, at the beginning of an [illegible] er, to lose his heart to Miss [illegible] but their families were in habits of [illegible] frequent opportunities of [illegible] He gazed and sighed in- [illegible] Dumbiedikes, but that he [illegible] ence of brain—he followed [illegible] e felt jealous, uncomfortable, [illegible] bowed even civilly at another; [illegible] the encouragement [illegible] ady, a woman of sense, [illegible] ship would be at, character, was superior to girlish [illegible] and under every advance consideration [illegible] delicacy—the winter was [illegible] to spring, and he had not yet [illegible] opened [illegible] Mumma at last lost [illegible] and one day, when his lordship [illegible] his usual lounge in the drawing [illegible] uttering an occasional monosyllable, [illegible] good lady abruptly left the room, [illegible] the pair alone. When his lordship [illegible] saying to take his leave, discovered [illegible] embarrassment in which he stood, a desperate [illegible] of resolution seized him. Miss [illegible] cast assiduously over her needlework, [illegible] rush on her cheek. His lordship advanced [illegible] her, but losing heart by the way, [illegible] seated on in silence to the other end of the [illegible] He returned to the charge, but [illegible] without effect. At last, nerving himself [illegible] one about to spring a powder mine, [illegible] dart before her—

"[illegible] will you marry me ?"

"With the greatest pleasure, my lord," was the answer, given in a low, somewhat timid, but somewhat unfaltering voice, while a deep crimson suffused the face of the speaker.

And a right good wife she made to him.

Some gentlemen, equally nervous, and no added by each a discriminating and ingenious mamma, have recourse to the plan of wooing by proxy. This is a system which I can by no means recommend.

Pay, the philosopher, had a freak of educating a wife for himself. He got two orphan girls entrusted to his care on entering into recognizances to educate and provide for them. One proved too mulish to make anything of. The other grew up everything he could have wished. And yet he gave up the idea of marrying her because she one day purchased an article more gaudy than accorded with his philosophical notions. Of course it never came to a declaration. I wish it had, that one might have seen with what degree of grace a man could divest himself of the grave and commanding characters of papa and pedagogue, to assume the insinuating, deportment of the lover.

There is a set of men whose success in wooing—and it is unfailing—I cannot comprehend. Grave, emaciated, sallow divines, who never look the person in the face whom they [illegible] ress; who never speak above their breath; who sit on the outermost edge of their chairs, a full yard distant from the dinner table. I have never known one of these scare crows fail in getting a good and a rich wife. How it is, heaven knows! Can it be that the ladies ask them? One thing is certain, that I myself have never been able to pop the question.—English Magazine.

HEALTHFULNESS OF APPLES.—There is scarcely an article of vegetable food, says Hall's Journal of Health, more widely useful and universally loved, than the apple. Why every farmer in the nation has not an apple orchard, where trees will grow at all, is one of the mysteries. Let every family lay in from two to ten more barrels, and it will be to them the most economical investment in the whole range of culinaries. A raw mellow apple is digested in an hour and a half, while boiled cabbage requires five hours. The most healthy dessert which can be placed on a table is a baked apple. If taken freely at breakfast with coarse bread and butter, without meat or flesh of any kind, it has an admirable effect on the general system, often removes constipation, correcting acidities and cooling off febrile conditions more effectually than the most approved medicines. If families could be induced to substitute the apple—sound, ripe and luscious—for the pies, cake candies and sweatmeats with which their children are too often indiscreetly stuffed, there would be a diminution in the sum total of doctor's bills in a single year, sufficient to lay in a stock of this delicious fruit for a whole season's use.

We have heard of and tested a great many kinds of water-proof blacking for winter boots. Let us tell you what we have tried for two winters, and found to be the best article that we know of. When your boots are stiff, and you think need oiling, wash them in castile soap suds—oil before the leather dries (you may use blacking all or any kind of grease;) have a saturated solution of gum shellac in alcohol (anybody can make it, as all there is to be done is to dissolve in a pint or half-pint of alcohol just as much shellac as the liquid will take up,) and apply this liquid with a sponge to the oiled boots. In two or three minutes the shellac will dry and harden, and you will have a coating on your boot through which the water cannot by any possibility penetrate. Try it, reader.

TO REMOVE STUMPS.—A correspondent of the Rural Register states that Mr. John Barnes, of Baltimore, removed a troublesome stump from near his house in the following manner: "Last fall, with an inch augur, he bored a hole in the centre of the stump, ten inches deep, and into it put about half a pound of oil of vitrol, and corked the hole up tight. This spring the whole stump and roots, extending through all their ramifications were so rotten that they were easily eradicated."

If true the above would be a cheap method of removing stumps. The sulparic acid can be bought for about five cents per pound.—Genesee Farmer.

TO PREVENT HORSES FROM JUMPING.—We know it is not jumping time, or rather pasturing time, but here is an important item which it is well not to pass by. A correspondent of the Ohio Homestead was riding with a friend and observed that one of the horses had a hole in each ear. On enquiring the cause, he learned that it was to keep them from jumping. "Why," said he, "a horse don't jump with his ears." "You are mistaken," replied his friend; "a horse jumps as much with his ears as with his feet, and unless he can have free use of his ears he cannot jump." He ties the two ears together, and has no more trouble with the horse.

Who is the laziest man? The furniture dealer; he keeps the chairs and lounges about all the time.

Who are the most dishonest people? Hardware merchants; they sell iron and steel for a living.

Who is the most liberal man? The grocer; he gives almost everything a weigh.

Who are the best natured men? Rebel surgeons; they are never out of patients.

Who will make the best soldiers? Dry goods men; they have the most drilling.

Topers should bear in mind that when they quaff from the goblet afterwards appears in the mug.

The nicest thing in bonnets.—The face, of course.

An old Yankee, when he was told by an English tourist in this country, that the celebration of the Fourth of July would soon be extinct, answered: "See here, stranger, don't talk that way. I tell you when the Resurrection day comes round, the first thing done in the morning will be to read the Declaration of Independence!"

At a spiritualist meeting the prophet Balaam was called up, and asked, if there were any jackasses in his sphere? "No," he replied, indignantly, "They are all on the earth!"

If a woman has a heart, she should never suffer it to lie in her bosom as dead capital; it ought to circulate and pay interest.

"There is no place like home," says the poet. Right! unless it is the home of the young woman you are after.
